THE WESTERN RAILWAY.

For the last three years there has been a perennial litany of complaints against the Board of the Western Railway. The French "artista" or wool-buyer, the consignee and the barraquero clamored and clamor yet for larger sheds, quicker dispatch and more regularity. Waggons arrived with produce from the camp, remained loaded for days in the Station, interfered with traffic and often stopped business; the representatives of leading French firms were seen jumping the life to come from the top of the waggons in desperate attempts to catch a glimpse of the wool they had bought the day before. The consignees stormed, the German barraqueros swore and the "artistas" wept at this primitive mode of transacting business in the great emporium of S. America. The Station-master had all these gentlemanly millionaires at his feet imploring for removal of waggons, for dispatch of waggons, for shunting of waggons, etc.

The wool-men are to be pitied no doubt, but the fate of the grain buyers is far more distressing. Many a grain merchant has grown grey owing to the mismanagement of the railway; others have grown bald, and some have been ruined. The merchant had signed a contract with the "chacarero;" the grain was to arrive such a "month"—the grain arrived at last in waggon and in Almagro. The maize or wheat was sold by cablegram, a vessel was chartered, the lighters were ready, but alas! the problem arose how to get the grain to the Catalinas mole, to avoid delays and expenses in lighterage and to send the stuff on board. The Station-master was interviewed and after one thousand protestations the unfortunate merchant departs with the promise to get half or quarter the number of waggons he needs to convey the grain to the Catalinas mole this day next week. The ship, meantime, goes, the lightermen are furious, and last not least, the whole transaction falls through.

Much as the above are to be pitied the "chacarero" fares worst; generally of humble extraction, speaking a foreign tongue and unacquainted with the business habits of those around him, he goes hat in hand to beg for waggons from the nearest Station-master; here as a rule he is received in an ungracious manner. He is informed that there are no waggons and that nobody knows when there will be any waggons disposable. The station is surrounded by piles of bags of grain, by cart-loads of wheat and maize, all exposed to the inclemency of the weather. A rainy night settles the hopes of our "chacarero" friend who often loses the work of a season.

Such a wretched picture of want of organization has finally stirred up the Provincial Government, and the Governor and his Ministers, in their feverish endeavor to improve the situation, have drawn up a lengthy bill of reform which may be intelligible to the legislators and those who hope to get lucrative posts, but is absolutely puzzling to the parties who want redress, as not a word is mentioned with regard to the increase of rolling stock or the extension of sheds. That the reforms proposed by the Government may give good, nay excellent results, we are quite willing to anticipate; that the reform will introduce many new posts with excellent salaries we are quite sure of; but alas! that the demands of the wool-buyer, consignee, barraquero, chacarero and sheepfarmer will be met we are sorry to say that we see no tangible basis for any supposition of the kind in the new bill. The young Government has missed an excellent opportunity to make itself not only popular amongst its friends but amongst those who do not care one straw about politics and emoluments.

At all events there is yet room for faint hope; the last anchor is fixed in the common sense of the legislature. Let some man stand up, pitch politics aside, and dive into the merits of a question where practical results are the chief aim of the reform, where trucks, locomotives and box waggons are of more importance than new employments, fresh boards or increased salaries. The bill is drawn up to meet a want much felt and known to all in a more or less tangible shape; let the present bill of good intentions stand as it is, but for the sake of the deluded public let a column-and-half of reforms be appended, promising greater attention to the demands of farmers outside, increased rolling stock to remove the produce accumulating in the stations, better management in the Once Plaza, and quicker dispatch in the removal and unloading of waggons, larger "galpones" in Almagro, or Caballito, and extension of the present sheds in the Once, if possible. All this and more must be added to the bill to render it comprehensible to a public patient in its complaints and hopeful of the good intentions of the new Governor.

DR. JUAN CARLOS GOMEZ.

The solemnity of yesterday's funeral—the crowd that accompanied the remains to the cemetery—the speeches of Pellegrini, Varela, Ramirez, Mitre and others over the grave—shew that Juan Carlos Gomez was a man of uncommon stamp. He was a visionary in the politics of his country (the Banda Oriental), and, like Rivadavia in the Argentine Republic, was two generations or more ahead of his time. As a writer and as a poet he aspired to a high rank in the republic of South American literature; and as a journalist, we may say, from experience, that he was unrivalled. He was indeed the Guido Görres of the River Plate, and Governments trembled when he frowned—such was the weight of his writings; and when he spoke, the bees of Hymettus appeared to have rested on his lips—such was the magic charm of his soft but convincing eloquence.

The memory of the deceased will be long cherished. He had hundreds of tried friends of all parties and nationalities. All the representative men of Buenos Ayres attended the funeral yesterday. If his death is a great loss to his country, his memory, at least, will be a lasting beacon to the generation that grew around him, admired, but failed to understand him. It is, indeed, consoling to see the great tribute of esteem and veneration paid to soaring merits, political honesty, and a long life of admirable integrity—all these were embodied in Juan Carlos Gomez.

There stood over the grave in the cemetery many of every walk in life; both high and low gathered in the farewell. There were men also of all shades of politics, but friend and foe shook hands over the grave of the mutual friend. Several hundred people listened to the funeral orations, some of which went to the heart, and many eyes were dimmed with tears as the tender chords of feeling were touched in the eloquent retrospect of the principal moral traits of the deceased.

THE BOCA REPORT.

The appended report of Engineer Luis A. Huergo on the works of the Riachuelo Port during 1883 will be read with interest. The Boca is perhaps the most European place in South America; it is a suburb of Genoa, and the advance of the town, the progress of the port works and the incredible increase in the tonnage and number of ships entering and leaving the river shew that the Boca is making rapid headway. The port works will be probably completed this year, but such is the daily snag-up in the river, owing to the increased foreign and local tunnage, that further extensions must be already contemplated. Owing to the length of Mr. Huergo's report, we publish same in two chapters. The following refers to the works and the dredging:—

Buenos Aires, January 22nd 1884.

To the President of the Committee of the Riachuelo Works, Don Antonio C. Cambaceres.

I have the honor of laying before you the result of the works carried out at the Riachuelo during the year 1883.

Loading and Discharging Wharf.

During the year 1888 lineal metres of wharf were constructed, according to contract, by Mr. William H. Taylor.

Of this extent, 798 lineal metres were contracted for and constructed at the rate of $128.80 per metre, 470 metres at the rate of $134.80, and 120 metres at $122 per metre.

During the year no money was spent in repairing the moles already existing.

Pavements.

An area of 10,504 square metres along the river has been paved.

Five hundred square metres have been laid down, at 5.40 fts per metre; 8,264 do at 4.50; and 1,750 square metres have been paved by the Boca and Barracas Tramway Company, at the Tramway Company's expense. The Committee supplied the stone and sand, the Tramway Company doing the remainder.

Cranes.

Two steam cranes have been put up at the Vuelta de Rocha, with a radius of 21 feet and a power to raise 2½ tons The erection of the 12 hydraulic cranes is nearly concluded; one, a fixed crane with a power to raise 10 tons, seven movable ones to raise 1½ ton, and 4 do to raise ¾ ton.

The seven movable cranes run along an iron track of 3-metre gauge, resting on firm supports. The cranes' supports that are driven into the tosca are put up, the machine-house is erected, and the pipes have been laid, the only thing remaining to be finished being the placing of the steam-machine.

Excavations.

During the past year the excavations of the outer port only, at the island bought from Messrs. Demarchi Brothers, were carried on. A contract to excavate a volume of 95,159 cubic metres was made, the excavations to be dug 0.60 metres below the ordinary level of the waters; 41,400 cubic metres of earth have been removed. All this earth is heaped alongside the wall projecting into the River Plate, 480 metres of which have been already built. This wall when finished will be 850 metres long.

Dredges.

The dredges have worked pretty well, and these, as well as the small craft are in first-class condition. The dredges, steamers and launches have undergone the repairs necessary to keep them in the present sound condition. The dredge Riachuelo was in dock during the months of January and February; all her bad and loose plates were removed and changed; her machinery and boilers were overhauled, and she was repainted. The dredge Emilio Castro has also undergone close inspection and repairs; and nearly the entire bottoms of five of the mud barges have been changed.

The tables which accompany this report show the number of barges loaded the volume dredged, the coal, oil, grease, etc., consumed by the dredges; the cost of dredging and of conveyance, and the quantity and total of work of each dredge per month.

During the year 10,066 steam launches and 7,134 mud barges were loaded with mud, calculated at 1,554,020 cubic metres, at a total cost of $362,205.35.

Working has been carried on day and night, stopped only for repairs, by bad weather and the feast of the 25th December. The work done can bear comparison with that effected on any other port.

On the Clyde, where, according to the opinion of many, the best machines are to be found, and where they have great experience, during 30 years of dredging the greatest volume dredged was in the year 1875, when, with 5 dredges they raised 1,130,288 cubic yards, or 863,653 cubic metres.

The cost of cubic metre dredged, the freight for the 4 dredges together and each separately was:—

Cost per cubic metre

Dredge	Dredged	Transport	Total
The 4 dredges..	$0.139	$0.094	$0.233
Progreso.....	0.113	0.081	0.194
Riachuelo.....	0.124	0.056	0.180
Lesseps.....	0.163	0.151	0.314
Emilio Castro....	0.246	0.166	0.412

The more powerful dredges, Progreso and Riachuelo, raise the mud for a smaller cost than the less powerful ones, and the conveyance in steam launches is also cheaper than in the mud barges which serve the dredges Lesseps and Emilio Castro. All the expenses of the 5 steam launches have been divided, taking 3/5 for the Progreso and 2/5 for the Riachuelo, owing to the former working at a greater distance from the emptying grounds; but if the calculation is computed at per cubic metre of material dredged the cost of transport would be:—

Progreso	$0.181
Riachuelo.....	0.192

The total cost per cubic metre dredged can also be calculated thus:—

Coal	$0.034
Materials.....	0.083
Crew	0.116
Total.....	$0.233

During the past year a contract was made in London for the construction of a dredge, 6 steam-launches and a tug, of which there have already arrived 2 steam-launches, Nos. 6 and 7, and the tug-steamer Fulton.

There are now employed in dredging, including the vessels arrived—

4 Dredges
7 Steam barges
12 Mud barges
2 Steam tugs
1 Steam launch.

THE MENDOZA RAILWAY.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mendoza, May 25.

Mendoza is "en fete." The first train entered at noon, and ten thousand people assembled under the poplars in Calle Belgrano (a splendid Boulevard, 40 metres wide) to see it. At the entrance to the street there was a triumphal arch, 25 metres high and 18 wide, in Oriental style, with the inscription "Gratitude to the President of the Republic, General Julio A. Roca" on one side; and "The Municipality of Mendoza, 24th May 1884" on the other. On each of the four bases were inscriptions, such as Peace, Labour, Industry, Honour to the National engineer Villanueva etc etc.

At the train entered the 12th Regt. of the Line were drawn up on one side, and the local Societies on the other; and on both sides three thousand school children were arrayed.

A corps of young girls sang the National Hymn, and the pupils of the Female Normal school a hymn to Progress.

At the first whistle of the locomotive the guns fired a salute of 21 shots, and rockets flew on all sides.

The train came to a stand under an awning, 80 metres long, put up in the street, and where a table was laid with lunch for one thousand people.

When the travellers had alighted the train went on to the station. The ladies threw flowers before it, and gave bouquets and wreaths to the engineers. Mr. Villanueva C. E. was also presented with a beautiful album.

The coadjutor Bishop of Cuyo, in full pontificals, assisted by several priests, blessed the rails, and the locomotive as it entered, in presence of the Governor, all the public authorities and the principal families of the province.

Before the company sat down to lunch, Dr. Serpez, on behalf of the Municipality, delivered a speech which was subsequently distributed in a fly sheet. At 3 p.m. the lunch was over and the company proceeded to inspect the decorations, etc.

A feed of 'carne con cuero' was given in the station to the navvies and the populace. Perfect order was observed.

The Buenos Aires visitors went to see the ruins of the old city, to get an appetite for dinner. After that meal we all went to the theatre, and wound up with a champagne supper given by Mr. Benegas, Manager of the National Bank.

May, 26th.

May Feasts celebrated "con toda solemnidad."

The Spanish residents are riled at the way in which the preacher referred to their country in the sermon at the Te Deum.

Grand breakfast at the Model Farm, given by the Governor to the engineers. Table laid "unter den linden" (eucalyptus). M Messrs. Astorga, Villanueva, C.E., Senator Zapata, Mr White (Pres. N.E.D.), the Finance Minister, Sr. Quesada, and E. T. Mulhall (editor of Standard) spoke. The latter said that he hoped to get 1000 new subscribers for his paper in Mendoza—that editors helped to govern the world by writing articles quite as much as engineers by making railways. This was his opinion.

Deputy Civit proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. White, Chief of the Engineers' Department, for the way in which he had urged on the works.

The tables which accompany this report show the number of barges loaded the volume dredged, the coal, oil, grease, etc., consumed by the dredges; the cost of dredging and of conveyance, and the quantity and total of work of each dredge per month.

Mr. Frank Parish, Chairman of the Great Southern Railway, made a splendid speech, in which he predicted an immensely prosperous future for the Province of Mendoza.

Mr. Villanueva, C.E., proposed the health of Mr. Fisher, Manager of the Central Argentine Railway, for his valuable assistance in the extension of the Andine Railway.

Grand fireworks last night in the Plaza Independencia. A terrible accident occurred: a piece of metal flew from one of the Catherine wheels and smashed a spectator's head to bits, causing a fearful sensation amongst the public.

Grand pic-nic "paseo" by train today to Maipu Station, 8 kilometres from town. All the ladies of the city are invited.

Will leave to-morrow for B. Aires, and be there on Friday.

Very few English here. Dr Day the principal.

White will receive freedom of city to-morrow from the Governor.

Mrs. and Miss. Parish, Mrs. Barker, Fisher and Vidal will leave to-morrow for the Andes.

LATEST FROM BRAZIL

Rio de Janeiro, May 15, 1884.

The legislative proceedings have presented little of interest to the general public and have consisted chiefly of "general politics," which may be briefly summed up as "general recrimination." In fact, the proceedings appear to have interested the legislators as little as the legislated, as both houses have already given themselves a holiday—which is the more ominous as accompanied with continuance of rumours of a proximate exit of the present cabinet.

In the Senate, on the 8th, the Minister of Foreign Affairs said that as as regarded the Anglo-Brazilian claims the matter had been referred to the Council of State, and that after receiving its reports the government would examine the question and try to settle it.

The Minister of Finance has given notice of the prolongation to the end of the year of the undiscounted currency of the 18 notes of the 3d estampa, 108 notes of the 5th and 6th estampas, and 208 notes of the 5th estampa.

The Minister of Agriculture has decided that in regard to gum-elastic lands held by possession or sesmaria, the conservation of the seringal, by planting new trees to replace old, shall be considered "effective cultivation" confirming ownership. This initiates a new policy in regard to such lands in the Amazon valley.

The survey of the Madeira and Mamoré railway has been recommenced, although Dr. Carlos Morsing, before resigning the direction, advised against continuing it, as unnecessary, the surveys of the 129 1/2 kilometers to the Girau fall having established the correctness of the Church and Collins surveys, which fixed the total length at 362 3/4 kilometers. This the ex-chief says may be reduced to 340 kilometers, and he estimates the cost of construction at 50 contos per kilometer.

Dr. Satyro de Oliveira, president, and Colonel Antonio Theodorico da Costa, 1st vice-president, of Ceará, have been relieved of their duties.

The Bishop of Pará also arrived on the 9th in Rio, wherein all the bishops are concentrating, in view of the measures adverse to ecclesiastical interests.

A telegram from Manaos says that the provincial legislature of Amazonas had voted 300,000$ towards freeing the 1,100 slaves in the province.

A telegram reports the successful inauguration of S. João light in Ceará.

A scare was produced at Bananal, in S. Paulo, on the 5th, by the entry of 31 slaves, and matters wore a black aspect for a time. It proved, however, that the slaves had killed nobody and had no intention to sack the town, but had come to complain of illtreatment by the person with whom, the estate to which they belonged having been attached by the bank of Brazil, they were deposited.

Meetings of coffee planters are in the order of the day. At Rezende, Rio de Janeiro, 400 met on the 10th to contradict the report that at a previous meeting part favoured total emancipation in 1891; and at Bara Mansa, S. Paulo, the farmers' club resolved on petitioning the public powers for measures to put down the abolition agitators, and on inviting the press to assist in repressing the agitation.

Yellow fever continues to decline, and the reported deaths since our last have not exceeded two a day.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our Own Correspondent.)

THE EARTHQUAKE, MUTTON, AND OTHER THINGS.

April 25th.

The principal domestic event of the week has been the earthquake. It occurred at breakfast time on Tuesday last, the 22nd inst. There appear to be some people who are constitutionally seismometers, and who distinguish the roll of an omnibus or cab from an earthquake with the greatest nicety. I cannot say that my coffee, rolls and Times were in the least disturbed on that morning, whilst within one hundred yards of me, in the Strand, people were rushing out of their houses in wild alarm. The shock, however, was very slight in London, and it can be said to have been scarcely noticeable in the metropolis beyond the boundaries of a narrow strip north of the Thames. On the other hand, in the Eastern Counties it was rather severe. The point of greatest disturbance was in the neighbourhood of Colchester. The vibrations extended as far west as Leicester. The duration of the shock was 30 seconds, and, according to some authorities at the West End, it was again repeated, but with less violence, on the following morning, about the same hour, 9.20. a.m.

"I can find no authentic record of loss of life or personal injury, but property, to the value of some twenty or thirty thousand pounds, has been destroyed. The spire, 150 feet high, of the Lion-walk Church at Colchester, was rent asunder and fell with a crash, much of the masonry falling clear of the church into the graveyard. The rest of the tale, particulars of which I send you separately, is a record at swayings to and fro of beds and furniture, the uplifting of buildings, the falling of chimney-stacks, the gyrations of lamps and chandeliers, the ringing of bells and the puzzlement of affrighted individuals, who, in their conclusions, had to hastily decide between dynamite, the dies irae and subterranean dynamite forces. The direction of the wave was from east to west, as the clocks that stood north and south were stopped, whilst those that stood east and west were not disarranged. There was no sultriness, nor were there any of the usual premonitory signs of earthquakes in the atmosphere. On the contrary, the morning was cold and gusty, as mornings have been for the last week. In the recorded list of earthquakes in the British Isles, the late one is numbered 260, or thereabouts, and is reputed to have been the most severe shock since that of 1580, when a part of St. Paul's and the Temple Church were destroyed. It is said there is not a single seismometer in any of the British Observatories, a proof that such visitations as earthquakes are practically unknown; of the slight shocks that do occur, there seems to be no complete or easily accessible record, as in lists which have now appeared in the papers I see no mention of an earthquake I distinctly remember myself forty years ago in Liverpool. The shock was duly noticed at the time, and extended over a large district, and was particulary severe in Scotland.

The International Exhibition of Art and Industry at the Crystal Palace has been duly inaugurated by the Lord Mayor. There are already some 16 States worthily represented, but it will take a little time yet before the Exhibition is in working order. The Republics of the River Plate will possibly appear there in due time, and the whole Exhibition, during the coming summer, will probably afford many facts of interest to communicate.

The now go-a-head and somewhat chattering Pall-Mall Gazette, contains the following important reflection in regard to frozen mutton, a subject likely to occupy your attention for some time.

It says:—

"One point in favour of Australian mutton appears to have been overlooked, and that an important one. The universal complaint in this country, of those who know what they are eating, is, that old mutton has all but vanished, and that nine-twentieths of the meat reared on our English downs and other pastures, and sold by our butchers, whatever its quality, is barely two years old. That which forms one of the chief merits in venison—the being from four to five years of age—is never enjoyed in mutton, or only enjoyed by those who can feed their own sheep, and keep them regardless of cost. But, in the case of Australian mutton, the age is assured, for the simple reason that the sheep increase in value as a wool producer till over three years, so that it is directly against the interest of the farmer to sell it as meat until after that age. This is a material element, not only of the value, but also of the healthiness of Australian mutton over English."

You observe how loosely these great thinkers allude to this vital question. When the Pall-Mall speaks of Australian mutton, it means principally New Zealand, and it now enters its little mind that neither one nor the other, but the River Plate, is the Golconda and Potosi of frosty carcasest "Transequatorial mutton" would be a more convenient and less invidious term than either "Australasian" or "Campana mutton," excepting on one or other side of the Equator we wanted to specify some individually luscious roast then we should say "Southdown" or "Welch;" and, allow me to observe, if I have not made the observation before, that the small Welch mutton, which is sometimes compared with small River Plate, is quite beside the general question of imports of frozen meat. In the first place, there is very little Welch mutton to be had, and, in the second place, what there is is not likely for some time to come to be seen in the West End shops with the transequatorial. Welch mutton is, owing to its quality, reserved in the trade for the "upper ten." As for River Plate mutton, I fully expect this time next year, after we have received a few more cargoes, to see it better recognized in the press generally. At present it is virtually unknown, out of the trade and "River Plate parties." But be not afraid; only read the following extract, from the "South American Journal" of yesterday, which, if all is true that is told me by correspondents from the River Plate, and if the statements as to prices are correctly given in the "Journal" means a possible clear hundred per cent profit!

The "Journal" says—

"It would be impossible to exaggerate the value of utilising for European consumption, the immense meat reserves of the River Plate. It is therefore with much gratification that we are able to announce the arrival last week in this country of a second cargo of frozen mutton, consisting of 9,5000 carcases, per steamer "Wexford," and which was consigned to the River Plate Frozen Meat Company. We have always expressed our conviction that the mutton of the River Plate, though small, would meet with a ready demand in England, and we understand that in this instance the whole cargo was speedily disposed of at an average of 5d. to 6d. per pound, a price which should leave a fair margin of profit. The trade in River Plate meat may now be regarded as an established source of additional prosperity to the Argentine and Uruguayan Republics, and its effects on pastoral pursuits in those countries cannot fail to be of incalculable advantage. We are informed that another shipment will shortly arrive, and in view of the severe restrictions likely to be imposed on the introduction of live animals, the traffic in dead meat will do doubt assume dimensions of increased importance."

The half-yearly meeting of the shareholders in the Great Southern Railway was held yesterday at Cannon Street Hotel. Mr. John Fair presided. The report showed a net profit of £137,779. There was an increase in the gross receipts of the line of 18½ per cent, and in the net profits of 15½ per cent. The Board decided to pay the usual ad interim dividend of 4 per cent for the half year, and a bonus of 1 per cent. Negotiations had been entered into with the Government for further extensions from Maipu to Mar del Plata, about 81 miles, and from Juarez to Tres Arroyos, about 57 miles. The report was agreed to.

THE ENGLISH MEAT SUPPLY.

In the debate in the House recently some interesting statistics were given of the meat consumption of the people. We recommend the perusal of the following speech:—

Mr. Chaplin said that if it had not been modified we should not be dealing with the subject now. The right hon. gentleman had given his figures for 1883, and he said that instead of a loss of 150,000,000 lb. of meat we should incur a loss of 250,000,000 lb. by this Bill. Now he had ascertained that the importation of live cattle was rather larger in 1882 than in 1883; and there was another important matter—the importation into London from clean countries, which would not be interfered with, had increased from 28,000 to 37,000. It was no doubt a very serious thing to interfere with such a large supply, unless they came to consider the whole annual consumption. It had been estimated that the whole annual consumption represented 1,750,000 tons of meat at present, but the foreign supply was not more than 6½ per cent. at the outside of the whole annual consumption. The right hon. gentleman said that it was an exceedingly serious thing to interfere with one-third of the whole consumption in London. Well, London was the best market in a country which, in itself was the best market for meat and everything else at present, and it was as certain as anything could be, that if they interfered with the London supply the void would be filled up from other quarters. Whatever other parts of the country might suffer, London was certain to be supplied. There was a striking illustration of that fact. In 1867 there was imported into London 121,000 foreign live cattle, and in 1868 only 97,000, and yet the price of meat fell from 6-3d. per lb in 1867 to 6¼d. per lb. in 1868. But there was a still more striking illustration. In 1867 there were imported 420,000 foreign sheep and in 1868 only 183,000, and yet the price fell from 6¾d to 6¼d per lb, whereas, according to the right hon. gentleman, it ought to have increased enormously. How was that to be accounted for? By the increase of the home supply, which rose from 166,000 live animals in 1867 to 192,000 in 1868, while the sheep sprang from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000, or an increase much larger than the whole foreign supply in 1867. (Hear, hear.) These were facts which the right hon. gentleman could verify. But there was another argument. According to the Registrar-General's returns, the population of London in the last twenty years had increased by something like a million. Twenty years ago it had three millions of inhabitants; it has now more than four millions.

London depended for its supply mainly on live animals. Well, in 1864 there were 375,000 animals brought alive into London; in 1882 the number was only 314,000, and by the last returns it was only 288,000. The number of sheep in 1864 was 1,500,000, in 1882 it was 1,300,000, and according to the last returns 1,269,000. According to the right hon. gentleman the additional million of people would require an additional supply of one-third or one-fourth. That had been made up without difficulty by the dead meat supply. He admitted that the dead meat trade had not made great strides of late. That was because it paid importers better to send here live cattle rather than dead meat. But suppose all that live meat was prohibited, the result would be a vast increase in the dead meat supply. Was it to be doubted that there was an ample supply of dead meat for every purpose? From Australia the dead meat trade in the two months ending in February rose from 7,000cwt. in 1882 to 44,000cwt in 1884. In America the dead meat trade was cleverly managed. He knew of one farmer alone within 16 miles of Chicago who slaughtered 4,000 animals a week for the dead meat trade, and another who slaughtered 314 weekly. A third farmer had just commenced work on a gigantic scale in the same country. The fact was that the trade in dead meat was absolutely killing the trade in live animals in America itself. That being so, how was it that the American dead meat trade was not killing the trade in American live animals in England? The answer he received to that question carried conviction to his mind, though he did not know whether it would do so to the minds of those who were championing the agitation in England. It was that the American dead meat although in perfect order, was slightly discoloured by the voyage, and it was impossible to palm it off as English meat, whereas the live animals were killed and the beef sold as English beef at English prices. (Hear, hear.) Now there were great interests opposed to the future progress of this country. There were the butchers and salesmen, who were making large profits to the detriment of the consumers. The House ought to consider that before it was led away by the hon. member for Salford or the right hon. member for Bradford. The agitation now going on was a sham agitation; it was an agitation not in the interest of the consumers of this country. (Hear, hear.) The hon. gentlemen opposite were really champions of the butchers' ring, although they were not so consciously. (Cheers.) He believed that the disease could be extirpated from the country if adequate legislation were passed, and that in no long period But if that were to be done, it was necessary that the Bill should be carried in its amended form, in which he should vote for it. He believed that the Bill so amended would meet with the approbation of many members on the other side of the House, and that the conviction was rapidly spreading that the usefulness of the measure depended on its passing in its present form.

SWEDISH EMIGRATION.

To the Editor of the Standard.

Dear Sir,

I call attention to the negligence of your proof-readers which sometimes causes laughable mistakes. In the first article bearing the above heading I distinctly wrote Spitzbergen. A child of seven years of age would have laughed at "icebergs of Switzerland." But it seems that the gentleman who signs himself "Con Amore" never even thought that there was a typographical error. This was excusable, but the countryman of Mr. Smith being very generous, wants to make the "Swedish people laugh." 'O amor patria!' This fact would make many people believe that if "Con Amore" is not physically old, he must certainly be morally young. Goldsmith himself might have repeated his celebrated verse:

"The sports of children satisfy the child."

"Con Amore" should know also, that the first article with the above heading was almost a translation of what I read in one of the native papers, and I might venture to remark that we, in the Plate, are not totally unacquainted with the modern history of Sweden.

Believe, dear sir,
Yours truly,
Griveene.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Mendoza excursionists appear to have the jolliest possible time of it. The ladies up there received them with open arms, bouquets, and laurel wreaths for the engineers. See another column.

The Electric Light was very good in the Plaza on Monday night, excepting some few of the carbons that were evidently defective. The Plaza is now so large, however, that the light did not pierce to its extremities.

The weather looked rather rusty yesterday, and as if more rain was coming. Nobody, however, can complain of the Clerk during the May Fetes, which are rarely blessed with such superb weather as they had this year.

The papers give revoltingly minute details of the execution of the Paysandu murderers. One of the corpses was absolutely raised from the ground and posed on the "banquillo" again, in order to have photographs of it taken! This is truly abominable.

The English papers of the 26th are unusually newsy, but we have no space for half the news, "on dits," gossip etc. Sir Thomas Brassey, who was here some years ago, and who is popularly called "Tom Brassey," is booked for the Peerage, and his daughter is about to be married. Mr Gladstone and the whole Cabinet are savage with Chinese Gordon, as they gave him full powers and he has not done what he was sent out to do. The Oxford Dons, divines, and duffers are working heaven and earth to prevent ladies gaining degrees in that University; but public opinion is behind the ladies, and they are certain to gain their point. The P.M.G. refuses to start a penny "telegogue." It is stated that the late Mr. Charles Reade has left about £20,000, the bulk of which goes to his godson. Mr Charles Liston. At the sale of the Earl of Gosford's library, the first volume of the celebrated Mazarine Bible was put up at £20 and was knocked down at £500. The case of Finney v. Cairns (Garmoyle), which is the action brought by Miss Fortescue against Lord Garmoyle for breach of promise of marriage, is No. 363 in the printed list of actions set down for hearing during the Easter sittings. It is about the 120th special jury case in the list, but it is very probable that it will not be reached until the Trinity sittings in June next. Mr Charles Russell, Q.C., M.P., who has been retained as leading counsel for the plaintiff, was also offered a retainer on behalf of the defendant.

The death of Mr Robert Grant of Chascomus has caused wide and sincere regret. He was a brother of Mr John Grant of Calle Cangallo, who has our sincere sympathy in his loss. The lamented deceased succumbed to an attack of paralysis of some two years standing.

A constant reader asked us yesterday if there is to be no more fun in the Consejo, and what has become of the Intendente "in partibus infidelium," Dr Larroque. We cannot answer either question, but opine that things are settling down, as the Concejo have not met for some days.

At some religious ceremony, at which Archbishop Whately was to officiate in the country, a young curate who attended him grew very nervous as to their being late. "My good young friend," said the archbishop, "I can only say to you what the criminal going to be hanged said to those around, who were hurrying him—'Let us take our time; they can't begin without us.'"

Tickets for the English Literary Society's entertainment to-night were in great demand yesterday. The programme is very attractive. Mr Denstone will recite Lord Tennyson's poem "Revenge."

The death of Madame Logerot de Daumas was announced yesterday. There was a large attendance at the funeral in the Recoleta Cemetery.

The letter published by several of our colleagues and purporting to be from Mrs D'Amicis in Turin, thanking the people of the River Plate for making so much of her husband, turns out to be a hoax. It is dated six days before Amicis arrived at Montevideo: yet the poet's numerous worshippers fell into the trap.

The Mendocinos have glorious appetites and there can be but a poor market up there for Cockle's Pills. At the popular banquet given there on Saturday, at the inauguration of the railway, the "menu" consisted of fifteen roasted beeves "con cuero;" 3000 "empanadas," three quintals of cheese, and local wine "ad libitum." The only things left were the skins of the fatted calves.

A Lawyer engaged in a case tormented a witness so much with questions that the poor fellow at last cried out for water. "There," said the judge, "I thought you would pump him dry."

One day last week old Mrs. Newyears, one of the wealthiest old ladies in Aigburth, made an official call on Mrs. Fizzletop. Mrs. Newyears was dressed in an elegant silk dress made in the very highest style of art. It attracted the attention of Johnny Fizzletop, who could not help admiring it, and finally the imp said:

"Ma don't you think that dress is very becoming to Mrs. Newyears?"

"Yes, my son; keep quiet now," responded Mrs. Fizzletop, who was afraid Johnny would make some improper remark.

"So you like my dress, do you Johnny?" asked Mrs. Newyears, kindly.

"Yes mum, its very becoming; its just like your face, full of wrinkles and folds and creases like."

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in stating that I cured all my flocks this season with the "Golden Leaf Extract" and found the result highly satisfactory, and in future do not intend to use any other dip.

After first using the "Golden Leaf," I found it such a perfect cure for Scab that I recommended it to several of my neighbours who have all proved it equally good.

Yours truly

National Bank Shares....	148

The bears are at last in the field. From the struggling positions of last few months they have finally emerged in a compact body, and to-day's contest at the ring shews that there are powerful elements on both sides. The bulls won the day, but the market is in a precarious condition and the situation is unsteady. Large amounts of money are being taken up, and, although the bears threaten to deliver several thousand shares at the end of the month, there are possibilities of taking up the entire supply.
The share market opened this morning at 148, fell to 147¾, and closed at 148, between buyers and sellers; about one thousand shares were sold. Operations for the end of June embraced 1,450 shares; rates opened at 150 and closed at 149½. There was much excitement round the ring, and there was a well-contested struggle between bulls and bears. All kinds of rumors are afloat with regard to the late split in the bullish ring.
Bank Scrip ruled weaker than yesterday. There were sellers at 59, but buyers refused to listen to any quotation above 57. A few, nevertheless, were sold at 58, but the operation was not marked on the black board. There are few sellers of Certificates, but, as there is no market for the Scrip at present, this offer is quite sufficient to cause a weak feeling.
There was a little more activity in Cedulas this morning, and operations will increase with the approach of the liquidation of the month. A few thousand Series A were sold cash at 101. Ten thousand Series E were sold for the 30th at 89½, and 30,000 for the end of June at 89½. A few thousand F changed hands for cash at 85½. Both Series E and F rule weak for the moment.
The money market shews no change. No operations of any importance reported in exchange circles; the greatest calm prevails in the ambient. Exchange in Montevideo quoted at 2½.
Mr. Somerville has arrived from the South. He galloped from Mendoza to San Rafael, thence straight to Victorica and arrived a few days ago on the banks of the Arroyo Corto in Curumalan—a 27 days' ride over eight hundred miles of territory. Mr. Somerville took the train in Arroyo Corto station and arrived here the day before yesterday. This ride of 800 miles across an uninhabited region is worth recalling.
All the estancieros of the Province have 'novillos' for sale. One of the 'grenio' informed us yesterday that he had 200 fat bullocks for sale outside and that the highest offer he got was the miserable sum of 280 ⅝ per head. Both cattle and novillos are falling, and the outlook is not promising. Three hundred novillos of 2½ years have been sold in the Corrales at 150 ⅝ each—these animals, no doubt, were thin, but the price paid shews the tendency of the market. Cattle are selling freely 'al corte' at 150 and 160 ⅝ per head.
The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—
Cedulas—
For cash A 3,000 at 101
For May 31st E 10,000 at 89½
For June 30th E 30,000 at 89½
For cash F 3,500 at 85½
Sales, 46,500
National Bank Shares—
For May 31st 1,100 at 148-147¾-148
For June 30th 1,450 at 149½-150-149½-¾-½
Sales, 2,550
The Board of Directors of the English Bank of the River Plate have declared an interim dividend of 2½ o/o for the half-year.
The Nord America has arrived in Montevideo crowded with passengers and emigrants. She left Genoa on the 10th inst., and brings fresh dates from Europe.
Messrs. Talafero & Sanchez will hold a great Bahia Blanca land auction to-morrow. There is no better investment in the market than land in the town of Bahia Blanca; the place is going ahead fast and may be expected to advance for many years to come. There is elasticity in Bahia Blanca and the spurt that has been felt in affairs down there is only a shadow of the development of the future.
Many brokers were absent from the ring this morning, owing to Dr. Gomez's funeral.
A building site in La Plata was sold yesterday for 40,000 $; this shews the steady rise in lands in the new Capital. Other sales are reported at 35,000 $. The Tolosa station has been begun and the plans are similar to those of Charing-Cross station in London.
The Provincial Bank discounted yesterday 200,000 dollars.
The Loire is at present discharging several hundred tons of gravel from the mouth of the Rio Negro. This gravel is in demand here for the suburban quintas.
The Pomona is loading for Patagones in the Riachuelo. She will take a full cargo of general merchandise. She is posted to leave on the 1st prox.
The Gauchita, Zulema, Roma Libre, and several other lighters that went to the bottom in the late freshet in the Riachuelo, have been floated. The attempts to save the M. A. Evans, British barque, have been unsuccessful up to date.
The Portena arrived to-day with 70 passengers and 2,000 barrels sugar.
The Van Dyck has arrived with materials for the Buenos Aires and Rosario Railway.
A consignment of twelve locomotives is on the way out for the Western Railway. The railway wants also several hundred more goods waggons.
The French Packet Congo is expected in the Plate to-day or to-morrow.
Mr. Henry Browne of Colonia, Banda Oriental, was welcomed on 'Change to-day. He reports everything thriving in the Department of Colonia.
The Cuvier arrived here this morning.
The Rubens comes up to-night and loads for Antwerp; she will sail on the 6th prox.
The Norfolk and the Effective passed Martin Garcia to-day; the former will load at Campana 1000 tons produce.
The Van Dyck takes up 1000 tons cargo from Campana.
The R.M.S. Tagus is coming out instead of the Neva; she is due on the 4th prox. She will be followed by the Elbe.
The Tamar will leave on Sunday; passengers can book through via New York as they can catch the Guadiana in Rio. This is an excellent opportunity.
R.M.Ss. La Plata, Neva and Tagus will be kept on the River Plate route; the two former have been fitted up with refrigerating machines for the export of fresh meat.
The fine steamer Presnitz came down to-day after loading in Santa Elena, Santa Fe and Diamante. She takes a full cargo of saladero produce and wheat. It is seldom a steamer goes so far up river as Santa Elena, and the Captain of the Presnitz deserves much credit for the manner in which he got up so far.
Four leagues of land situated in Las Garlotas, Province of Cordova, have been sold at $145,000 $ per league. Seller, Mr Grunbein, who has bought four leagues adjoining from Mr. E Rojas, at $5,000 per league.
Messrs. Bullrich and Co. sold to-day 6,672 hectares of land situated near the Alfalfa Station on the Southern Railway, at the rate of $351,000 $ per league. Buyer, Mr. Jose Rodriguez. The upset price was $200,000 $ per league.
The market ruled pretty active during afternoon hours. About two thousand shares were sold at 147¾ and 147½. The bears made a great push, but the market closed firm at 147¾ for the 30th. The Cedula market ruled dull; some E were sold for June at 89½. A few operations in National Bank Shares were effected for June at 149½.
Small amounts of exchange were reported passed at 47½-9/16.
Telegrams from the Mount announce the sale of 2000 salted ox hides from Piñeyrua's saladero at 73½; of 2,000 salted cow hides from Cibils's saladero at 65½ and of 100 pipes of tallow from Martore's establishment at 17¾.
The Nord America brings about one thousand passengers and emigrants

A Derangement of the Liver
THE CAUSE OF DISEASE
IN THE STOMACH, KIDNEYS, AND Nervous System.
Below will be found a brief summary of a Lecture upon the Liver, delivered before the Eclectic College of Medecine, by
Dr. J. Haydock
The Liver has been known as the great blood-maker and blood-purifier of the circulation. From its size and spongy structure, it plays a most important part in the animal economy, as regards assimilation and nutrition. Food taken in the mouth and acted upon by the digestive organs of the stomach is converted into Glucose and Peptone, and in these forms enters the Portal vein. Here, by the action of the liver, these substances are converted into a form of sugar and pass out of the liver by a large vein, called the Hepatic vein, into the great circulation. The new material now formed serves two purposes: viz: the maintenance of heat in the body and assisting in the cell growth of the system.
Dr. Murchison says "The composition of bile and its secretion is very complex. It is constantly being secreted by the liver, and, increasing suddenly before eating, gradually decreases as soon as the appetite is satisfied and fe

EDITOR'S TABLE

Mr Travers, the active agent here of the Gerard Electric Light patent, has received an order from the contractors of the Drainage Works to light up the "Tunnel de toma." It will be remembered that the trial of this light at Sommer's hat-shop some time ago was a great success.

Rioja is the place to look for fortune. A street Arab in that city lately found a bar of metal that had been thrown into a rut to fill it up. He carried it home and it was found to be pure gold!! Ye gods; Is this a fact, or a clever way of fostering immigration? We are inclined to the latter theory.

The City Butchers have formed themselves into a Mutual Protection Society. All the names on the list have an Ausonian termination—ino, oni, enzo, asco, izzi etc.

Dr. Peter A. Pardo is the lucky winner of the whole of the big prize of 50,000 Nats in Monday's Lottery; and Father Vita, the esteemed parish priest of Flores, won a fifth of the 20,000 Nats. prize. We congratulate them.

There was an enormous concourse yesterday at the interment of the remains of the late Dr. Juan Carlos Gomez. Cabinet Ministers, Congressmen, Journalists, and men of all professions and nationalities were there. There were 150 carriages in the cortege.

Peter Hosqui has just arrived in town after a sojourn of fourteen years amongst the Indians on the Pampas. He is married to Calfucura's daughter, and for a long time acted as private Secretary to his distinguished father-in-law.

On Sunday, at the Recoleta Tramway station, an English lady, who announced herself as a member of the Zoophiles Society, protested bravely against the cruelty of the car in which she was being driven back to town again with the same horses, as the poor brutes were half dead with fatigue. The 'mayoral' was quite civil to her, but said he could do nothing, as there were no horses to change. Our plucky countrywoman then went into the station to complain to the 'Gefe'; but the moment her back was turned the car drove on and left her behind. The other passengers were afraid to open their mouths to back up our humane countrywoman, although they 'ohed' and 'ahed' and 'Dios mio'd' at every whack the driver bestowed on his poor exhausted cattle.

We are glad to hear that there is a notable improvement in the condition of Dr. Rawson. His very large circle of friends will rejoice at such welcome news. Madlle Teodorini, the charming and talented prima donna of the Colon company, is also on the mend. It is expected that to-day she will be able to leave her bed and soon resume her lyric labours.

On Monday night the great marts known as the Ciudad de Londres and Progreso were lighted up with electricity, and it is thought that many more of their neighbours will soon follow. Calle Florida will be positively brilliant, if the light only takes.

The fireworks on Sunday cost some of our poor neighbours very dearly, as the burglars had a very high time of it in more than one place. The number and value of articles stolen is very considerable, but in one case they delayed too long, and, the owner returning, an alarm was raised that resulted in their capture.

A most brutal and unaccountable deed has been perpetrated in Gualeguaychú. Two men paid a visit to an 'estanciero' of that partido, apparently on business, and after some discussion, always friendly, the owner himself rose to see them off. However, at the gate or the door, whilst shaking the hand of one, he was suddenly set on by both and left severely if not mortally wounded. As neither wife nor husband knew either of the men, it is thought that they were commissioned by others to do the deed.

Borghi-Mamo was called before the curtain thirty times at her benefit in Lisbon last month. Not content with this, the audience called out her mother, and if she had a mother-in-law, no doubt the latter would have been summoned also. London is the only place now where opera-goers can enjoy themselves quietly and be tolerably free from this ridiculous "entusiasmo delirante" for singers and players. Forty years ago, when the singers and actors were far superior to those of the present day, there was none of this nonsense.

A warrant for the arrest of a well-known "escribano" was issued yesterday. He forged a deed, and the witnesses to it are also "wanted."

"Give me the baby to hold my dear," is the name of a new song. You won't hear many married men singing it.

How does it come that when two men inadvertently, as it were, take each other's hats the fellow that gets the worse one is the first to find out the mistake.

D'Amicis will give two more lectures before he leaves for Italy—one on the Santa Fe Colonies and the other about Garibaldi.

A baritone said to be superior to Tamburini, Ronconi, Graziani and Santley rolled into one has just turned up in Italy. His name is Giovanni Tamagno. Any relation to our Tamagno?

The Revista Medica says that the recent row in the Municipality has had a bad effect on the health of the poorer classes, as all the regulations etc. were allowed to go to the dogs during the fizzle.

The next article on the City Analyst's list for examination is powdered marble sold as sugar in second class "almacenes." All this analysing of adulterated food is not worth a button unless the Municipality adopt the Paris plan and make those tradesman convicted of adulteration advertize the fact in the newspapers and post it up in their shops. This would soon check the evil.

We have Mauritius papers of sundry datos. The French have not settled down in Madagascar yet.
